The Job's Not Done – Support NCSJ Today!

Some twenty years ago, when Soviet Jews were at risk and desperate to move to Israel, American Jews put their money and their passion behind NCSJ, the National Conference on Soviet Jewry, to help close to one million Jews escape to freedom in Israel, the United States and elsewhere.

Today, NCSJ is needed, now more than ever, to aid the more than one million Jews who are rebuilding Jewish life in the former Soviet Union (FSU). They make up the world's third largest Jewish population in a vast region that is important to the United States and Israel. NCSJ needs your support and the cooperation of governments in the FSU, Israel and the U.S. to ensure the security and well-being of our brave, bold Jewish brothers and sisters as they create a New World out of the Old World.

The job's not done – and we can't do it without you.
